The Australian Institute of Building Student Membership Information

The Australian Institute of Building (AIB) played a leading role in the establishment of all building and construction degree programs in Australia. AIB's relationship with your university ensures that upon completion you have an education that makes you sought after as an employee. However, there is more to being a chartered building professional.

By joining AIB as either a Student or Graduate member you are taking the first step towards your career development. Importantly, it's a signal to prospective employers that you are serious about a career in building.

AIB membership provides you with professional recognition, not only within Australia but overseas. Copies of the Construct magazine will keep you up to date on construction industry innovation and the website is one of the largest online resources of construction information.

AIB membership is your first step in becoming a building professional.

Develop networks within the building profession

One of the greatest benefits that AIB membership provides is the opportunity to network with other building professionals in the construction industry. These professional relationships will serve you well in the future, whether you are contemplating your next career move or simply facing a particular challenge where outside advice is useful.

AIB's members work for, and also manage, Australia's largest and most prestigious building and construction companies. Find a prominent building and there is an excellent chance it has been building by an AIB member. However, AIB's members are also associated with many mid-sized and small construction firms. This diversity allows you to build professional networks across the building and construction industry.

About the Australian Institute of Building

AIB supports the career development of building professionals. With one third of AIB's membership residing outside Australia, AIB membership affords building professionals International recognition. AIB's work is diverse, ranging from assisting the development of training courses to promoting the building profession. We work to ensure licensing schemes support both clients and building professionals.

Through the Australian Young Builders Alliance, AIB allows students of building courses to take a leadership role and also a role within the building and construction industry. For further information visit www.aib.org.au/youngbuilder
